HLRP (05-10-1979):

"The Kenyon place might be Orazzi's."

HLRP (05-10-1979):

"I can remember Aunt Nettie talking about Theodore Mills as if he lived next door."

HLRP (05-10-1979):

"When Pop was fixing the house and he struck the artesian well, he got in the buggy and went and got Aunt Maggie and brought her out and showed her the well."

On 05-10-1979, SRP showed a piece of paper on which are written the following numbers:

344 J 3
344 R 1

HLRP reported that the first number used to be the telephone number at Riverside during the days when it was necessary to get the operator to ring the number you wanted. The three at the end meant three rings. The second number, HLRP further added, used to be the number at The Russell Homestead. The one at the end meant one ring.
